BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

Mr. Wm. E. Hankins, of Virginia, Leads to the Altar Miss Ruth Hynes

ALTAR GRACED WITH FERNS, FLOWERS

Last Monday morning about sixty invited guests were at the Methodist church to witness the solemn marriage vows which were assumed by Miss Ruth Hynes, of this place, and Mr. Wm. E. Hankins, of Toano, Virginia, who passed down the main aisle and stood in front of Rev. R. V. Bennett at 11:30 o'clock.

The solemn and impressive ceremony laid down in the Church Ritual was used, and after the ceremony the couple were dismissed by a short prayer by the minister.

The couple were most becomingly attired, the bride in white and she carried a bouquet, bride's roses. The groom was dressed in a dark blue suit.

From the church the couple and a few special friends repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. W. A. Hynes, where a most delightful luncheon was served. In the afternoon the couple left for Lebanon where they expected to take a train for the East, before going to the groom's home in Virginia.

Mrs. Hankins was reared and partly educated in Columbia. She finished in Randolph-Macon College, Va., and while in College she met and became acquainted with Mr. Hankins, who is now her husband. He is a young man of excellent character and standing, and upon his return with his Kentucky bride, he and his companion will be joyfully met by a large circle of friends.

The bride is one of the best young girls ever reared in this community, and her many friends, while they disliked to part with her, trust that only love and unbounded happiness will remain with her so long as she lives.

Judge Charles Mooreman, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, and his wife, uncle and aunt of the bride, and her brother, Mr. Strother Hynes, who is in the law school at Lexington, were here to witness the ceremony.

The couple will receive many handsome presents.

I will be at Jamestown, Monday, Oct. 16th, to buy mules, 4 to 5 years old, to weigh from 850 to 1,200 pounds. Must be in good flesh and sound.

BIG CROWD ATTENDED THE LOT SALE

Sale a Success in Every Way

The lot sale conducted in this city by the W. C. Payne Realty Company of Campbellsville, Ky., was a success in every particular. The location was a beautiful site on the west side of the Jamestown and Russell Springs pike. There were 72 lots in all. Prices ranged from $25 to $120.

A crowd of about 1,500 people was in attendance. The bidding was spirited from the beginning to the end.

The Payne Realty Co., was represented by Mr. W. C. Payne and his son, Edward Payne, both of whom, conducted themselves as to win the confidence and esteem of the citizenry of Jamestown and Russell county. They were assisted by Prof. B. Garrett Graves, Normal teacher of the Russell Creek Academy, of Campbellsville, Ky., and by Capt. G. L. Toombs, of Danville, Ky. Prof. Graves made one of the most effective and appealing speeches ever made to the citizens of Russell county, telling them why they should buy lots at the opening of the sale, showing them the advantage in owning and developing real estate. Capt. Toombs is without a doubt one of the best auctioneers in Kentucky. He kept the attention all the time by his clever wit, and his masterly speech.

Music was furnished by the Colored Band of Montpellier. It was a great day, a great crowd and a great time.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRD APPELLATE DISTRICT.

Fellow Citizens:

I am addressing voters of all parties, and particularly Democratic voters.

Some of the Louisville dailies have said that I am a professional politician and opposed to the non-partisan selection of judges. I want to state to you my position from the start in regard to the race for Appellate Judge in the Third District.

I was for Judge Hurt. It is a pity for the State to lose his services. By all means he ought to have been re-nominated. He was satisfactory to the Republicans in the State, and the Republican organization.

He was satisfactory to all of the Democrats in the State, except a few in three or four counties and a few in the city of Louisville.

Some time after Judge Hurt had issued a statement indicating that he would accept a re-nomination but would not leave the work of the court to make a fight for it, I went to Frankfort to see Judge Hurt. I told him out and told him that he would easily win the nomination over all Democrats that might oppose him. I then said: "Judge, I came here to assure you that if you receive the Democratic nomination the Republicans of the Third Appellate District will not give you any opposition."

Judge Hurt replied in substance that his word was out and that he could not go back on it. He referred to the custom of both parties in Kentucky of re-nominating a Judge who had made good. He said he would stand by his published declaration and would not make a fight for re-nomination.

I knew that I was absolutely safe in giving Judge Hurt the assurance I did. His services on the bench had been of such high character that Republicans had no desire to displace him. Owing to my personal and professional relations with Judge Hurt before his election, I could not have thought of running against him.

I ask Democrats of the district to decide for themselves whether my action in this matter showed any partisanship. I ask you also to contrast my attitude with that of a few Democrats who set Judge Hurt aside.

Why did they do this? The root of the matter is this. A few Democrats in certain counties wanted to make a place for one of their number, so they conceived the plan of sending Judge McCandless to Frankfort in order to get him off of the circuit bench.

This election means little or nothing to Judge McCandless. He has yet more than five years to serve as circuit Judge. The position of trial Judge is as important as that of Appellate Judge, and rather more difficult to fill.

I ask the voters to decide who has played politics in this matter.

Very respectfully,

Litburn Phelps.
